CURRENT MARKET REPORT

JBS was hit with a cyber attack last week and was down over Memorial Day weekend and for a few days after, which did have some effect on the finished market down South as they couldn't kill any cattle. However, they did get up and running relatively quickly and it has since steadied the market South of the border. The Canadian fed market continues to trade at a premium to our friends in the South which is helping our feeder cattle prices as well. We continue to see loads of U.S. feeder cattle heading North into Canada as Canadian feeders seek to profit from the disparity of our feeder and fed market to the USA. Cows and Bulls continue their strength and show zero signs of weakness as the economy picks up and people continue to spend. The grain market continues to weigh on the mind's of cattle feeders as the cost to put on a pound of beef keeps getting higher. Moisture seems adequate in most parts of Western Canada and I hope that trend continues for the sake of everyone in the cattle industry as most feeders are optimistic for cattle prices moving forward, notwithstanding the the cost of production moving higher.
